

Who is Leonard Redway?

The race for Inglewood's District 1 seat holds the most competition, according to the list on the Inglewood City Clerk's website. Redway is up against incumbent George Dotson and several others. However, none are campaigning as hard as Leonard Redway. Redway has signage and banners all over the city, social media posts, YouTube videos, door hangers, mailers, Spectrum TV commercials, KJLH radio ads, appearances at local businesses, and, surprisingly, a campaign bus. This begs the question, "Who is this guy, and why is he campaigning so hard?"

Redway is a single father of a 12-year-old daughter and is committed to keeping the community in which they live safe. A Google search finds that he is a 25-year-plus business owner of a family-owned plumbing and mechanical company (www.lrsplumbing.com), which does a lot of business in the city of Inglewood, as well as a real estate developer. The family plumbing business had a very interesting marketing strategy. The four brothers released a pin-up calendar to promote their services in 2006. This gained them local notoriety and set them apart from the competition. A search of social media revealed that the brothers were on a relief team that deployed for Hurricane Katrina and, more recently, according to a video posted by famed VJ Ananda Lewis https://youtu.be/z_5R88XWd-U.

Redway launched the LR Foundation In 2017 with the mission to provide a charitable outlet to reach and encourage young people seeking career direction. The foundation also has a program called Season of Giving <https://youtu.be/tk8oCkbL0-Q>. The program is a give-back to seniors and low-income families in desperate need of home repairs. Redway definitely has a knack for giving back. His philanthropic community endeavors also include food drives and toy giveaways with a local pastor Kyler Franklin of E Faith LA.

Redway was one of the first in the nation to start feeding 1st Responders with a food truck during the pandemic, including the Inglewood PD and dispatchers. In total, it appears they provided 5k during the course of the program with stops at LA City Fire, LA County Fire, Kaiser Baldwin Hills, USC Medical Center, LA County Sheriff's Department, and many more.

Redway's focus for Inglewood's District 1 is SENIORS, SAFETY & SCHOOLING. The Campaign website can be found @ www.redway4council.com.
